

Fostering Committed Action for Nature

Policy recommendations from the BIOMOT project

Wouter T. de Groot
Marino Bonaiuto
Tom Dedeurwaerdere
Paul Knights
Luuk Knippenberg

The BIOMOT project has received funding from the European Union's Seventh Framework Programme for research, technological development and demonstration, grant agreement # 282625

Reference to this work should be made as: De Groot, Wouter T., John O'Neill, Tom Dedeurwaerdere, Marino Bonaiuto and Luuk Knippenberg (2015), Fostering Committed Action for Nature. Nijmegen: The BIOMOT project, ISIS, Faculty of Science, Radboud University Nijmegen.

The authors acknowledge the invaluable contributions of all other BIOMOT researchers and support staff: Riyan van den Born, Martin Drenthen, Maike Coenen, Janneke Hagens, Hein Vosmar (Radboud University), Jeroen Admiraal (Leiden University), Flavia Bonaiuto (Psychologist), Mirilia Bonnes, Lavinia Cicero and Erica Molinario (CIRPA, Sapienza University of Rome), Ferdinando Fornara (CIRPA, University of Cagliari), Massimiliano Scopelliti (CIRPA, LUMSA University), ..... to be completed

Moreover the authors wish to express their gratitude towards all 34 projects and 213 individuals, in Belgium, Finland, Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Slovenia and the UK, who gave their time and intellect to make the interviews a success.

On how committed actors for nature are 'made' .....

On fostering childhoods with nature .....

In praise of the brownfields .....

On stories and the public discourse on nature .....

On the self-determination of groups for nature .....

On fostering the intrinsic motivations of groups for nature .....

On the risks and services of ecosystem services .....

About biodiversity action based on values ....

About biodiversity action based on meaningfulness .....

..... connected with styles of decision-making,

.....connected with economic valuation,

.... connected with nature-based solutions,

.... connected with education policies,

.... connected with agricultural policies,

.... and connected with economic development and jobs.

YET TO COME!

Later this year